Lost Aviator Believed To Be Safe

Rescue parties today located six missing crewmen from the Army flying fortress that broke in two and crashed on a Sierra slope yesterday, and then returned to hunt for the pilot, believed to be safe somewhere in the rugged mountain region.

Reports telephoned from Georgetown, 25 miles below Lake Tahoe and near the headwaters of the Rubicon River, said that the flyers were unharmed, but that fragments of the big bomber were scattered over a 50-acre area.

A parachute found draped over a fence indicated that Lieutenant L. M. Walker, pilot of the fortress, had landed safely and probably was wandering through the hills seeking shelter.

The first searching parties, made up of volunteers, forest rangers and Civil Aeronautics authorities, led by Corporal Sterling Hunt and Private Alden H. Stockey, who parachuted from the bomber and reached the Georgetown Ranger Station last night, found the plane wrecked at 8,200 feet.

The second missing flyer is Lieutenant Robert A. Adams, 22, an instructor at Moffett Field, who was seen about 24 hours after the crash, but whose whereabouts have been a rumormongers' flight from Stockton to the Redwood Forest, where he was said to have taken off this morning to search for the plane.

Overcast weather. Heavy overcast weather forced Army planes to intercept their target in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada, where they were seen to be circling the mountain.

Both pilots apparently were killed by the impact and died before the fortress had time to crash. A third member of the flight, Staff Sergeant Robert, was seen to have parachuted from the fortress.

Appropriate Reply Not Forthcoming, State Department Told

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The State Department today refused to accept a jump sum of $250,000 in full settlement of all claims against the German Government for the sinking of the American steamer Robin Moore, the State Department official said today, and the German Government was not to be expected to make any further offer to the American Government.

The communication from the German Government to the State Department, made public by the State Department, was dated September 28. In it the German envoy referred to the original American protest, which took the form of a letter to President Roosevelt's message to Congress on the sinking, and a subsequent letter from Hull offering to accept a lump sum settlement for damages.

"I have the honor to reply to you herewith that the two communications made are just such as to justify an appropriate reply by my Government," said the communication from the German charge d'affaires, Hans Thummen.

NAZIS ASSERT DEFENSES OF CRIMEA SPLIT

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Russian Army in the Crimea has been split into two groups by the Nazi drive, and is attempting to flee by sea through the ports of Sevastopol and Kerch, an official Nazi source said today. The high command also claimed that Italian troops, cooperating with the Germans, had captured other industrial centers in the Crimea, but did not say whether they had captured Sevastopol.

A special communique pictured the Russian retreat in the Crimea as taking on the aspects of a rout. The communique said that the advancing German army had captured 10,000 prisoners, 200 tanks, 218 cannons, several hundred anti-aircraft guns and vast quantities of other war material.

American Friendship Price Of Continuance, Says Hull; Soviet Ready to Negotiate

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A British declaration of war against Finland, Hungary and Rumania—as requested by the Soviet Union—was regarded as likely tonight by well-informed diplomatic sources.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The United States has hesitating to do a war against Finland mainly because of objections raised by the United States.

Hull said this Government has no more to say about the Finnish Government's American anxiety over the course Finland has taken.

The United States is now waiting the Finnish Government's reply. The secretary of state said that on August 18 the Finnish minister in Washington, Hjalmar Prosser, was informed that the State Department had learned that the Soviet Union was preparing to discuss a Finnish-Soviet pact on the basis of territorial compensation to Finland.

Sharp Drop in Ship Losses

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Ship losses in the Atlantic in October were considerably less than in the previous month, according to more planes than Germany in the Baltic, and the British navy reported that German submarines were released in Berlin and London.

According to the German high command, 41,200 tons of British shipping was sunk in the Atlantic in October, compared with 50,000 tons in September. Surface vessels and submarines were responsible for the losses, which were 30,000 tons in September, a drop of 11,200 tons.

The British who reported at least 115 acre ships destroyed or damaged, did not estimate their losses. (See SHIPPING, Page C, Col. 2)

Kursk Falls To Donets Conquerors; Moscow Defenders Recapture Part Of Kalinin, Killing Thousands

(By The Associated Press)

Germany proclaimed triumphantly today the Russian Army of the Crimea, split by the scourge of lightning assault by land and air, is fleeing the peninsula through the Black Sea ports of Sevastopol and Kerch in a double Dunkerque.

Far from the Crimean front, in the Donets Basin to the north, the important industrial center of Kursk, on the railway running north from Kharkov through Orel and Tula to Moscow, had been captured. Kursk is 125 miles north of Kharkov.

Although the Russians readily admitted that the siege of Moscow was becoming most grave, Red Army dispatchers reported recapture of the northern sector of Kalinin, ninety-five miles from the capital on its northern flank. They said thousands of Germans were buried under the flaming debris of houses blasted by the defenders.

Rumanian, Hungarian Units Suffer Terrible Losses In Russian Fighting

BORDER ROW GROWS

ISTANBUL, Nov. 3.—(Associated Press.)—A reliable Balkan observer reported today virtually all his "top" detachments of Rumanian and Hungarian troops have been withdrawn from the Russian front, the Rumanians after casualties of 40 to 50 per cent, the Hungarians after loss of two thirds of their equipment.

Observers—a person with training has equipped him to make accurate estimates of Balkan conditions—reported Rumania is suffering in a critically low state. Her participation in the Russian war is in a formal collapse would not be surprising.

Hungary, on the other hand, is not so much touched by the war except for the terrific strain on her resources. Her military position is reported to be considering a withdrawal to the east and almost equally likely to withdraw to the west.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The United States has warned Finland and she must discontinue promptly her offensive military operations against Soviet Russia if she desires to maintain the friendship of the United States.

Secretary of State Hull disclosed this move by the United States in reply to a press conference question as to whether the United States is replying to London that Britain is replying to declare war against Finland mainly because of objections raised by the United States.

Hull said the government has frequently called the attention of the Finnish Government to American anxiety over the course Finland is pursuing.

He said the friendly relations which we have always had with Finland, however, no final conclusion from the present policy of the Finnish Government in regard to the Soviet war will be maintained.

STILL SOUGHT

A series of army airplane accidents over Central California and the San Francisco area in the last ten days resulted today in a toll of ten fliers dead and three missing with seven crashing as the destination of some and as the operations point in the search for others.

The Chandler Field Municipal Airport was the final of four army planes which crashed yesterday, one a J-37 flying fortress, in the Lake Tahoe region, and three P-40s, a part of the 31st Pursuit group, which on October 24th lost five of its pilots in the High Sierra.

Seven fliers of the pursuit group were killed last night after flying fighters R. R. Stronach and Thomas LeRoy Trux, who had been assigned to the same place crashed on a peak near San Anselmo, Merced County. Another flier, who was on the ground, was killed in a crash near Placerville.

Finn Truce Plan Holds War Future

By LOUIS F. KEEBLE

Of the United Press War Desk
Military considerations of the greatest importance lie back of the pressure by Britain and the United States on Finland to call off hostilities with Russia.

London and Washington obviously are acting in close connection with Russia. The chain of events started last August 18, when Russia offered peace terms to Finland, including territorial concessions and guarantees which presumably would restore what Finland lost in the 1939-1940 war with Russia.

The offer was transmitted by Washington to Helsinki. No reply has been received. Now Russia has demanded that Britain declare war on Finland, along with Rumania and Hungary. London indicates that the declaration will be issued.

At that juncture, Secretary of State Hull entered into the play with a strong argument to Finland to end the war and get out of the Nazi orbit, lest she lose the friendship of the United States.

In view of the warm feeling and sympathy for Finland in this country, it is scarcely likely that Secretary Hull would have taken such a stand except for urgent reasons. Britain also would have a strong motive for a declaration of war against a nation which she would prefer to see as a friend.

The reasons for the move are obvious. Finland's withdrawal from the war would have several extremely important effects.

It would free large bodies of Russian troops now on the front from the Arctic to the Gulf of Finland for duty elsewhere. They are troops especially trained for winter fighting.

It would end the encirclement of Leningrad and make the fall of that key industrial center improbable.

It would open the port of Murmansk and its railroads in connection southward to the flow of British-American aid for Russia.

The last of special importance. The German navy south are threatening a drive to the Cape Sea which would cut off the sea lanes and the supply route to the Red Sea.

That would leave Archangel as the only route, aside from Vladivostok. Archangel is fettered during the winter months with the most efficient use of ice breakers, it would be difficult to operate the port open this winter, and finally impossible to operate it efficiently. Moreover, as a railroad from Archangel south, it would be vulnerable at Vologda, where it joins the Trans-Siberian to a German-Finnish truce eastward.

Murmansk, however, is ice free the year round and has better port facilities than Archangel, being a considerably less distance from Britain on the northern sea route. It is connected with Leningrad by a good railroad running down the eastern side of the Karela, a non-Finnish Finland would make this route of the defense effort.

The question arises, if Finland resists the pressure to accept a truce, how would the truce change? The answer is difficult, but the logical purpose of declaring war on Finland is to make war on it, military or economic.

It already is making economic war on Finland to the extent that her blockade applies to that country and effectively prevents the receipt of any supplies from the United States. Hence a British naval and air expedition to open Murmansk and the railroad by force might be in prospect.

The difficulties of such an expedition would be enormous, but if successful, it would be of the greatest aid to Russia, and might still the clamor in England for the opening of another front against Germany.

'HARSH TIMES' FACE U. S., FDR TELLS NATION

Civilians Summoned To Aid Fully in Defense

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 4. (UP)—President Roosevelt warned America tonight that it must face longer working hours and harsher times if it is to win its way of life against the "pagan avalanche" proposed by the would-be dictators of the world.

It was the president's first declaration that longer hours are in prospect for American workers in the all-out effort for defense. In a statement broadcast the Nov. 4, 12 to 16 "Civilian Defense Week," Mr. Roosevelt announced that the time for half measures for defense has passed and that Americans must exert their full powers to protect their way of life.

In an unheralded statement to the nation in the Civilian Defense Week, Mr. Roosevelt proclaimed to the world that "we shall preserve that genuine American way of life." And he listed for Americans the cost of preservation of their freedoms:

1. "In our daily lives we must halt the waste and unnecessary use of critical materials required for defense."

2. "We must work longer hours to produce the munitions required to defeat Hitler."

3. "Each of us must be trained in some task that is essential to our total defense."

All Must Share
Mr. Roosevelt's statement was a call to the civilian men and women of America to enlist in the war effort. The army and navy already are virtually on a war basis, but the president said that "it is not enough that the army and navy are daily growing stronger for the protection of our national life."

"Each and every citizen, as a civilian," he said, "must do his share for national defense."

In prior pronouncements since the outbreak of the war, Mr. Roosevelt steadfastly has refused to admit the prospect of longer hours of labor for the working man, emphasizing the utilization of extra shifts and new personnel for increased production. But his reference to working periods tonight was unequivocal and raised the increasing urgency of the defense effort.

CRISIS LOOMS AT STRATEGIC PLANE PLANTS

Detroit May Request Use of Troopers In Dispute

By United Press
Strike action threatened to extend to millions of dollars of military aircraft orders Tuesday night as the west coast welders' dispute spread in defiance of a government peace appeal.

Violence in the month-old Detroit Railway Express tie-up further punctuated the national labor front and city officials hinted at intervention of federal troops as the possible solution.

A crisis was scheduled at midnight Tuesday in the strike deadline of independent welders at the Consolidated Aircraft plant in San Diego, Calif., and the Lockheed Vega plant at Los Angeles, both engaged in production of bombers and fighting planes.

The independent union said it would walk out unless the National Labor Relations Board granted a bargaining election at the two plants—and none had been granted. The independent union, which the union, meantime, that any strikers would be considered to have quit their jobs. The AFL-CIO's "Union Solidarity" contract at the plants, employing some 43,000 persons between them.

This crisis dispute was an offshoot of the AFL-Welders' month-old jurisdictional feud with other AFL building trades unions over autonomy in shipbuilding assignments. The welders' strike, ready a crippling $1,000,000 worth of government orders from the American Express Company spread Tuesday in ship orders at the Consolidated Steel Company's yard at Long Beach, Calif.

The new walkout came fewer than 24 hours after Associate OPM Director Sidney Hillman had requested a return to work.

In Deadlock
Detroit's Mayor Edward J. Jeffries threatened to summon federal troops to end a jurisdictional feud between AFL Teamsters and the AFL Brotherhood of Railway Clerks over bargaining rights at the American Express Company. The clerks threatened Oct. 4, 10,000 men to break the teamsters' picket line—and Jeffries responded by sending in 100 federal troops and a call for federal troops from the National Guard. There was no progress toward settlement of the quarrel.

The railway union urged fact-finding committee reports to President Roosevelt Wednesday in its investigation of the demands for 1,200,000 employment some recommendation for wage gains generally was expected. Nineteen unions have vowed to strike if gains are not obtained.

LODGE SCORES VICTIM FOUND

ACT REVISION BY SEARCHERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (UP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., R-Mass., whose famed grandfather supported the 1917 declaration of war against Germany, announced on the senate floor today that he opposes broad revision of the neutrality act because "it puts us physically in the battlefield of World War II."

It was the first time the hands-on, 39-year-old Harvard graduate committed himself on the subject of a terrific downcast, when they were thrown and parachuted from the four-motored ship.

Searching party reported briefly by short-wave radio to Ranger J. L. Ogden at the Georgetown forest service station that they had found the body crashed in the nose portion of the plane, the United Press said.

Eight other crewmen, including the co-pilot, had escaped from the crash, breaking up under the shock of a terrific downcast, when they were thrown and parachuted from the four-motored ship.

Searchers found the wreckage of the plane, a four-engine biplane, had been located some distance from the main portions of the wreckage, which was scattered over a 50-acre area near 800 feet above the ground.

The four-motored ship, referred to by army men as the pride of the air force, crashed shortly after Reno to McClellan Field air depot at Sacramento, Calif. The plane spent two days in Reno before leaving on its ill-fated flight.

Survivors said that it was caught in a downdraft at 12,000 feet in drops like a stone for more than 1000 feet and then snapped in two as it hurtled into an updraft with both pilots fighting the controls.

Ogden said that Walker's body was being packed down mountain trails to Basil's ranch where five men from Teik Peak, where six men were killed, were being taken to the hospital.

The other two had landed on Van Vleck's ranch where they were picked up by Christmas tree cutters.

The El Dorado county coroner will take charge of the body, said Ogden, pending the arrival of McClellan Field officials.
